GUEST SPEAKER

Ms. Federica Nazzani
General Manager

Windsor International Airport - YQG

How will changes to our international airport create investment and new business opportunities in our region?

Transportation and distribution of manufactured goods have always been the vital link that has created economic prosperity in our region. It can often be said that even though the movers and shakers in Canada are in Toronto and Montreal, what they move and what they shake comes right through Windsor and Essex County.

CIBPA is proud to welcome Federica Nazzani as our guest speaker for October 6, 2009, to tell us how the international airport will play a vital role in future economic development and diversification in South-Western Ontario.

To register, or to obtain more information, please contact Guest Speaker Chairperson, Greg Baggio at (519) 972-6061 or email greg.baggio@tuscanwealth.ca.

November Guest Speaker will be Honourable Dwight Duncan Minister of Finance

AN END TO THE RECESSION?

Is the recession really at an end? A number of authorities have suggested the possibility, among them the governor of the Bank of Canada and the head of the U.S. Federal Reserve. Equity markets are pointing in the same direction. So far in 2009, North American stocks seem to have ignored the old standby to "sell in May and go away". Since the mid winter low; prices have recovered 50 per cent or more in many industries. The positive forecasts were not made by our monetary leaders in a vacuum. The housing sector appears to be on the road to recovery, with home sales and prices on the rebound in many communities. Corporations are reporting financial results that generally exceed expectations, though not necessarily always on the positive side of the ledger. And surveys of business leaders suggest increasing confidence about future business conditions than in the past. Whether the actual economic recovery continues to follow the script is difficult to predict. We have confronted difficult business conditions over the past year or so that have been unprecedented in recent times. World leaders have responded in kind - many observers suggesting that the sometimes draconian measures undertaken may have averted a more serious depression. Challenges lie ahead. For example, the massive deficits rung up by North American and European governments portend higher interest rates, inflation and other problems over the next few years. Many of these can be expected to have repercussions for stock price levels, regardless of how they are dealt with by authorities. Generally speaking, however, the investment climate is much more positive today. As individual investors, how are you facing up to these challenges and potential opportunities? Each of us has distinct targets, whether that be for retirement, future education, or another worthwhile cause. The key is to look ahead, not into the past. Veer beyond the current headlines and take advantage of the situations that arise.
